

MANIFESTO THE STREETS AGAINST FASCISM

Where do we stand?

It's well known the fact that far right is spreading across the globe, gaining strength through a brutal surge of militarism and war, and advancing a discourse rooted in racism, xenophobia, misogyny, hatred of sexual and gender diversity, and an ultra-capitalist agenda. This unpunished authoritarianism feeds on hate and division, serving a reactionary strategy to maintain the dominance of the few and preserve a class-divided society that guarantees the wealth and privilege of elites.

Here and now, fascist street groups are on the rise, emboldened by media platforms and parliamentary institutions. They're turning our communities into a battleground, pitting the working class against the most marginalized. In doing so, fascists shield the powerful while waving a false flag of rebellion that preys on the disillusionment of today's youth. We must name them clearly: they are sowers of hatred among equals, and foot soldiers of the ruling class.

Fighting fascism in Cantabria

Fighting fascism in Cantabria isn't just about responding to fascist and neo-Nazi groups—but ignoring them won't make them vanish either. That's why, in September 2024, we mobilized once again to shut down Galerna Fest, a fascist festival backed by the far right in Cantabria, which last year attracted support from international fascist and neo-Nazi networks. This time, we succeeded in spreading our message of rejection and sabotaging the public visibility of the event through a massive anti-fascist mobilization that made one thing clear: when we unite, organize, and fight—we can defeat fascism. This isn't some clash between “opposing ideologies”—this is a battle for a world that belongs to all of us. And it's from that fight that The Streets Against Fascism was born.

The streets against fascism

We are a diverse and defiant space of unity, resistance, and solidarity. And we will not stand by in silence. Rooted in anti-racism, feminism, queer and trans liberation, environmental justice, and the memory of those who fought and fell confronting fascism, we choose mutual aid and collective struggle as our weapons.

The Streets Against Fascism is built on broad, uncompromising alliances. We call on you to join us—to organize and fight back, every time fascism dares to show its face in our communities. Let's not forget: in the face of a capitalism that relies on fascist reaction to survive, we are many. And we will keep taking the streets whenever necessary. We will not let exhaustion take hold—we must revive our militant energy and keep the antifascist flame burning.

We don't seek the spotlight. We seek comrades. Because the only response to fascist violence is collective action. We are organized as an assembly, and you can reach us at lascallescontraelfascismo@riseup.net, or by joining the meetings and actions we'll continue to announce. We're waiting for you—because we walk this road together, and we are not backing down. Not now. Not ever. History will not repeat itself.
